A YOUNG COUPLE moves into a new neighborhood. The next morning while they are eating breakfast, the young woman sees her neighbor hanging the wash outside. "That laundry is not very clean, she doesn't know how to wash correctly. Perhaps she needs better laundry soap."

Her husband looks on, remaining silent. Every time her neighbor hangs her wash to dry, the young woman makes the same comments. A month later, the woman is surprised to see a nice clean wash on the line and says to her husband: "Look, she finally learned how to wash correctly. I wonder who taught her this?"

The husband replies, "I got up early this morning and cleaned our windows." And so it is with life...What we see when watching others depends on the clarity of the window through which we look.

Just before the funeral service, the priest went up to the very elderly widow. He wanted to check some acts for his homily, so he asked her, "Your husband was 98 years old, is that right.?"

"That's right," she replied. "He was two years older than me."

"So you're 96?" the priest asked.

"Yep," the widow responded. "Hardly seems worth my going home after the service, does it?"

FATHER, have mercy on us this Fourth of July. Give us yet another chance to rediscover fairness, humanness, responsibility, charity. Love and forgiveness. If we open our hearts to Thee, miracles will happen. Our country needs such miracles more than ever, for our own sake, for the sake of all humanity, and for thy Kingdom's sake. We plead for this, this Fourth of July_ Amen.

dear Padre

Should we confess sins of the past?

I keep reading that people with scrupulosity shouldn't confess sins from the past they're sure they confessed, but is that true for the general population?

Scrupulosity is religion-based obsessive-compulsive disorder. People with scrupulosity obsess about sin and thus feel a need to confess past sins over and over. They may fear that they have not confessed correctly or even doubt the mercy and love of God. But the Bible teaches us that God is slow to anger and rich in mercy (Exodus 34:6).

If a person goes to confession and honestly confesses the sins he remembers, then his sins are forgiven. We all have left the confessional and then remembered something we should have said. As long as this was unintentional, we can trust in God's love and mercy and simply mention the sin at our next confession. God understands that we do not have a perfect memory. However, people who intentionally omit a sin are lying in the confessional and not showing true contrition, so their sins have not been confessed—and still need to be.

It's OK for people who don't have scrupulosity to recall past sins that they've confessed as long as doing so educates them on their weaknesses and sins and helps them avoid those sins in the future. However, people with scrupulosity should trust their confessor when he tells them they've completely confessed their sins and need not confess those sins any more.
