Treasures from our Tradition

In recent years, there has been remarkable progress in drawing persons with disabilities into full celebration. Now it's generally accepted that worship places need accommodations such as ramps, elevators, large-print materials for those with impaired sight & perhaps even an assisted hearing system or signing in American Sign Language. American Sign Language is not merely English translated into movement, but a distinct language with its own grammar, syntax (word order), and vocabulary. For this reason, the American Catholic bishops have approved American Sign Language (ASL) as an official language of the liturgy.

Celebrating liturgy in our own language (the vernacular) means that liturgy must be accessible to all languages & cultures. The fact that Mass is celebrated this weekend in some places in total silence, but with the full participation of deaf people praising God in the movements of their hands & sometimes even with a priest who is deaf, is nothing less than the Church being faithful to the image of Jesus, who made the deaf hear & the mute speak. Remember too that deafness is an invisible disability & that there may well be some in your parish who are quietly yearning for Mass to be signed for them in ASL. - James Field © J. S. Paluch Co

'Slow food' days

A young friend asked me the other day. "What was your favorite fast food when you were growing up?" "We didn't have fast food when I was growing up," I replied. "All the food was slow." "Seriously, where did you eat?" he asked.

"It was a place called 'home,' " I explained. "Mom cooked every day and when Dad got home from work, we sat down together at the dining room table and prayed before eating. My mother saw to it that we always had healthy, fresh foods on the table. And if I didn't like what she put on my plate, I was allowed to sit there until I did like it."

"My young friend was laughing so hard I didn't tell him the part about how I had to have permission to leave the dinner table." - Author unknown
